TIMBER CREEK TAKES THEIR FIRST WIN OF THE SEASON

Timber Creek took on Rockwall-Heath at home on August 30, 2018. Keller ISD Stadium was alive Thursday night for the first game of the season with a 47-10 victory over Heath.

The Falcons had 26 carries for 126 yds and 3 rushing TDs last night, the Falcons also had 3 fumble recoveries. Blake Irving, RB and senior captain for the Falcons scored 3 touchdowns for the Creek. The Falcons played an astonishing football game.

The start of the season for the Falcons started with a touchdown in the end zone by Max Arnold with a stunning throw by Gage Haskin. A strong defense lead by Joshua Kurian, benefited the Falcons the entire game keeping the Heath Hawks from scoring.

TIMBER CREEK SPORTS NETWORK KICKS OFF LIVE COVERAGE

The Timber Creek Sports Network is back for another award-winning season of live varsity sports coverage.

TCSN will be broadcasting LIVE via the NFHS Network and TCFM, the student radio station, for fans unable to attend the game.

“Every year we try to offer more experiences for our students to get experience doing live commentary and coverage of varsity sporting events,” TCSN advisor Greg Janda said. “This year, we’re trying to get to even more games and increase the quality of each and every broadcast.”

All Timber Creek varsity football games played at Keller ISD Stadium will be available on NFHS Network this year, with Thursday games (August 30 and October 18) available to stream live. Friday night games will be tape-delayed on NFHS Network due to UIL rules for broadcasting. However, TCFM will offer live simulcasts of all games, including Friday nights, to listen in.

NEW COACH AIMS TO STRENGTHEN CROSS COUNTRY PROGRAM

Before the school year even started, the Timber Creek Cross Country Team practiced everyday. This was not unfamiliar for most members of the team, but there was something different this summer: Josh Allen was the new head coach.

At the end of last year, long time cross country and girls track coach, Jeridan Strong, announced that he would not be coaching anymore in order to spend more time with his family. The team continued to run with loosely organized practices throughout June while waiting for the new coach, but in July, it became official as Allen began his job.

“I’ve just been really impressed [by] how well the team works together and how they go about their routines,” said Allen. “They’ve been welcoming and, you know, given me a lot of grace as far as the learning curve.”

Previously coaching at Northwest High School, Allen also he ran cross country in high school, however considering himself more of a “track guy”.

“I wanted to be a track coach and cross country kind of came in the territory,” commented Allen. “I liked track better when I was running, but when I started coaching, I really developed a passion for cross country. I think it’s the ultimate team sport.”

Now, he hopes to build on the past successes of the Timber Creek program, having admired the program for a long time. As the runners train for a highly competitive season, Allen is focused on more than just attaining silverware, hoping to stretch the “positive culture” at Timber Creek further than just the athletes he coaches.

“I take it as a big responsibility to be here,” Allen explained. “The teams have set goals of making it to state, so I hope to help them achieve that goal. I think ultimately the goal of any coach, any season is just for everybody to reach their potential, continue to improve, stay healthy, have a good experience,” expressed Allen. “I really want to emphasize the importance of team culture and making sure everybody feels included.”

With previous coaching instilling in these athletes that success is found through accomplishing their goals, the new coach hopes to create a great atmosphere for the team, creating a supportive group that holds each other accountable to push to their limits.

“Whether it’s cross country, track, [or] in the halls, you know, everybody’s pretty positive and supportive of each other,” said Allen. “To me, that’s the most important thing. Whether we win or lose, I think the culture’s the most important thing and what the kids take with them when they graduate. I think that says a lot about the success of a program when kids come back, and they still want to be a part of things. I just [want to] keep the program strong and moving forward.”

VOLLEYBALL VALEDICTORIAN DIGS IN FOR SENIOR YEAR

Playing libero for the Timber Creek volleyball team for the past three years and leading her class currently as valedictorian, senior Anna Thomas looks at the new school year's challenges with determination rather than defeat, overcoming each obstacle that both she as well as the team face.

"Going into this season, we are in a tougher district than last year," said Thomas. "It's going to be a harder fight. [Playing libero], I am on the court almost the entire game & I play strictly back row. A good volleyball team needs a good libero to keep the ball up and run the defense."

Seeing their next game as another opportunity to demonstrate the team's training, athletes like Thomas have spent both the on and off season preparing, as she plays No Limits club volleyball throughout the breaks. With the added advanced placement classes and out of school training consuming most of her time, playing libero and maintaining her rank of first in her class have posed as challenging, yet not impossible tasks.

"I started playing because I always went to my sisters' games and once I started playing, I had so much fun and couldn't stop," Thomas stated. "I'm very excited for senior year, but it definitely is a lot of pressure to keep my grades, especially during volleyball."

Hoping to receive All District Honors for the second year in a row and showcase her leadership skills both on and off the court, Anna Thomas will be visiting both Southwestern Oklahoma State and South Dakota School Of Mines and Technology in October, hoping to find a school where she will have the ability to play volleyball and be challenged academically at the same time.

"I would like to play volleyball at a college where I will be challenged both academically and athletically," said Thomas. "I plan on majoring in the biology field and possibly going the pre-medicine route."

Taking a 25-20 win in their third set of their game against Bishop Lynch High School on Saturday, Aug. 18 in the bronze bracket championship at the Allen Tournament and finishing ninth overall, Thomas and the rest of the team put up a strong fight and defense throughout their matches, going against big hitters.

After losing their first set, the team showed an intensive comeback within the second and third rounds, finding, as Thomas stated, "holes" within their defense and gaining easy points due to the team's tough serves. With the varsity team's next games on Friday, Aug. 24 and Saturday, Aug. 25 at the Arlington ISD Invitational, the team hopes to get out ahead and make a name for themselves.

"Playing defense is really fun and it's so rewarding when you get a great dig and hear your crowd and team cheer for you," Thomas commented. "I think our defense, block, and overall hustle really put us ahead at the end. One of our goals [for this season] would be to end with a winning record...and playoffs would be a nice touch."
